

AQSystem User Meeting 2013

More than 300 AQ500 sodars have been delivered. We are now inviting all our clients to a User Meeting on Wednesday 18th of September 2013. The purpose of the event is to let users share knowledge and experiences with each other and with AQSystem.

AQSystem will give presentations during the day including topics such as:

- Our reference mast
- Development of the next generation of our Sodar
- Comparison AQ500 - met mast, what results should you expect?
- Information about the revision of the standard IEC 61400-12-1 and the Remote Sensing best practice document issued by IEA in spring 2013.

We have the pleasure of expecting several internationally known wind consultants, turbine manufacturers and developers to attend our meeting. Thereby, this will be a fruitful opportunity for you to learn about other experiences of the AQ500 and receiving information about how the international consultants, turbine manufacturers and developers look upon the AQ500 and how they use it in their projects.
